INTRODUCTION

Chinese Astrology is all about the movement and the meeting points of different stars and cycles of time. the Chinese calendar is based known as the Xia (farmers') calendar is referring to the Ba Zi chart that indicates the persons' destiny code on the basis of the year' month' day and hour. It is not a fortune telling, it is about getting the persons roadmap in life by the understanding the available opportunities of these movements. while the choices are made by the person itself. this combination of the different cycles of time is presented in the terms of the five phases (elements) wood, fire, earth, metal and water, with their relationships with each other and with the different polarities of Yin and Yang.

In Chinese astrology There are two main methods to predict the annual luck pillar, by specific SHEN SHA stars and by the 4 PILLARS and BA ZI.

in this guide I will share my understanding on the four pillars and the individual possibilities for the 12 Zodiac animals you might find in your chart with the relationships they will have this year with the Rabbit branch and for each DAY MASTER.

This guidance will help you to navigate your path this year from the specific point of view on this year's opportunities and obstacles.

PART 1

A BRIEF INTRODUCTION TO CHINESE ASTROLOGY

THE FOUNDATIONS OF CHINESE ASTROLOGY AND MAIN THEORIS
Yin- Yang | Five Phases | Heavenly Stems | Earthly Branches

WHAT IS CHINESE ASTROLOGY?

The ancient Chinese looked up to the stars to look for guidance. they mapped the sky and found different movements that are represented as the 12 zodiac signs. Chinese astrology same as western astrology is based on stars, but Chinese relies on constellations that might get to 12 million possible personal charts.

Chinese Astrology is Based on Cosmology and deals with our relationship with the universe, and the impact on our existence through the yang, yin and 5 phases.

The concept of heaven in Chinese astrology perspective is the largest aspect of the universe. The physical heaven is divided to four parts. Each part is connected to different energies,

These relationships represent the energetic change in the cycles of time and seasons. Chinese Astrology deals with the quality and quantity of energy from time of birth (energetic DNA), and the interaction with the qi of the universe and with different people's qi.

Qi can be described as universal energy, vital life force energy that moves through endless flow of transformation in all living beings.

It is also the connection between every living thing the universe. It unites our body, our mind, and our spirit, and it unites us in everything.

All tools of Chinese astrology and medical astrology are variations of Qi that include Yin-Yang, five phases, 10 heavenly stems, 12 earthly branches and cycles of time.

YIN-YANG

These are the 2 completing opposites that represent the polarity of everything in the universe.

With the connection to the 4 directions we get to the development of 5 phases, 10 stems, and 12 branches.

Every aspect in life is a relativity of yin and yang. the concept of yin and yang views the universe as one integrated whole, and at the same time as two opposing but independent aspects.

The most complicated situations can be reduced to yin or yang, providing the basis to diagnosis and treatment.

In Chinese astrology yin and yang represent a major part of determining the true self and personality of the person / “Day Master” with the difference of the polarities in the five phases.

FIVE PHASES

The five phases (Elements) theory describes movements, interactions and relationships between things. they are fundamental elements of all interactions in the universe.

They are the basic foundation of the Ba Zi astrology. The relationships of these phases with each other will manifest the favorable and the unfavorable effects on our own energy during different circumstances and cycles of time.

Each phase represents many aspects of the whole cycle, all the zodiac animals, season, meridians, emotions, colors and more..

the phases represent the movements in nature with their relationships with each other. Each one is being supported, supporting, controlling, controlled by the others.

Obtaining healthy life is all about the balance of the phases!

HEAVENLY STEMS

The five phases united with yin-yang energy and create 10 energies.

The flow of pattern is by the generating cycle and begins with wood, that represents the beginning of growth.

Celestial stems transform the heavenly energy, making it applicable for Man.

EARTHLY BRANCHES

The 12 earthly represent the qi of earth. They contain mix of elements according to the development of the elements .

They reflect the earth energies and also correspond to 12 months of the year, 12 zodiacs, 12 main Acupuncture channels, and 12 double hour cycles.

Contain the 10 stems with extra earth branches that also contain yin- yang polarities.

The branches interact with each other too and influence us as humans on the physical and the emotional aspects.

There are many tools we can use to impact these connections. Acupuncture in one of the main tools in Chinese Medicine.

GUI MAO YEAR

The year of YIN WATER RABBIT is running on 2 main cycles. First cycle of the heavenly stems – the GUI stem represents the yin water energy, ending the 10 stems cycle. The second cycle is the earthly branches which is represented this year as the RABBIT– YIN WOOD energy. Water on top of wood is supporting and it will bring more harmony this year.

Yin water is like the morning dew, and yin wood is like a leaf, so the image of this year is like a morning dew on the leaf of the flower in the early morning, and it has a moderate and peaceful energy.

2023 represents hope, creativity, growth, relaxation, peace and prosperity. Like rabbits, when we tap into our personal power and confidence, we can achieve our goals despite the difficulties along the way.

This year will be good for most of all the other animal signs as well and a rather lucky year for some of them! Most of the animal signs have the potential to be successful in building meaningful connections, career progression, wealth and health boost.

WHAT IS YOUR DAY MASTER?

In the ba zi method it is important to know who the day master is. to know that you need to find the stem of the day.

The day master represents the SELF. All the relationships and the opportunities will be connected to the Day Master by its element and polarity.

The day master can be strong or weak, that depends on the support it gets from the the availability of the other elements in the chart, and also on the effect of the other time cycles.

support will come from mother element and from parallel element. weakness will come from over controlling and output elements.

For any day master, there is a need to see if he is strong or weak. According to that info you can see if the water and wood energies of this year is useful or harmful for you on 2023.

- The diagram illustrates the Five Elements (Wuxing) in a circular arrangement. At the center is a red circle labeled 'DING' (Earth). Surrounding it are four other circles: 'JIA' (Wood, green) at the top-left, 'HONG' (Fire, red) at the top-right, 'XIN' (Metal, grey) at the bottom-right, and 'GUO' (Water, blue) at the bottom-left. Dashed lines connect the central 'DING' circle to each of the four outer circles. Additionally, dashed lines connect the outer circles in a clockwise cycle: JIA to HONG, HONG to XIN, XIN to GUO, and GUO back to JIA.

So, this is it for now, there is a lot more to write on this and this is just the basis of this huge topic. we always try to be more specific with our analysis of charts and this guide is just the beginning of that.

I hope this will be useful to you and i wish you will find some benefits in this guide for this year. Just remember that everything is possible for you and the sky is the limit. The opportunities are always there, just do what you need to do with no excuses.

I wish you a Happy and adventures new Water-Rabbit year, with new and fresh beginnings.

Sincerely,
